NEWPORT,

BY CRANSTON & NORMAN,
127 Thames Street.

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1851.

DANIEL BROWN ARRIVED.—There is an unusual circumstance connected with the visit of Daniel Brown, the Missionary to Block Island, at the late election, which is too good to be lost.

Daniel was finding money here, there and everywhere, with remarkable profusion. Directly he saw a man come up with a locofoco ticket in his hand when Daniel walked up and asked his friend if he intended to vote that ticket, he replied that he did. He then asked Daniel to lend him three dollars. Daniel complied, and handed out the needed.

His friend then signed the ticket, and handed them to the Moderator, who looked upon the list, but lo! the man's name was not there, and, of course, he could not vote. He then said, "Why Mr. Brown, I thought it was there." "Well," said Daniel, "give me back my three dollars." "Why," said his friend, "Mr. Brown, I thought it was there," at the same time bucking out of the room. "Well," said Daniel, "then give me back two dollars, and keep one." His friend, still bucking, only replied, "Why, Mr. Brown, I thought it was there?" And he continued bucking until he got out of Daniel's reach, constantly repeating, "Why Mr. Brown, I thought it was there." This was all the consolation that Daniel could get; so he had to acknowledge that he was sold. He lost his three dollars, and got no vote. Daniel's mission to Block Island did not amount to much this time. It is said that the Islanders have found him out.

The Town Council have offered a reward of Fifty dollars for the detection of the persons who knocked down one of the Watchmen Friday night.

While they were about it, why did not the Council offer a reward for the detection of the persons who knocked down the Whig party last Wednesday? In that case we should have claimed the reward by informing them that the 14 men claiming to be Whigs, who voted for Charles T. James, last winter, were the guilty parties.

A discourse will be delivered this evening in the Central Baptist Church, and tomorrow, in the same church, at 10 o'clock, A. M., the annual sermon before the R. I. Baptist State Convention will be preached by the Rev. L. D. Hill. The public are invited to attend.

The anniversary of Mr. Clay's birth-day will be celebrated by the Henry Clay Association in New York next Saturday evening, by a supper, speeches, &c. It will be a brilliant affair, and will be numerously attended by the admirers and friends of the great statesman.

The locofocos spent over twenty thousand dollars in the late election in this State.

An order was received at Fort Adams on Saturday, ordering the Company of Light Artillery, under command of the gallant Major Sherman, to be dismounted and the horses sold. All the Light Companies in the Army have been dismounted but two, which are stationed on the Western frontier; this course has been pursued in consequence of a want of funds to meet the expence. We very much regret this necessity, and are very confident that it will be an unpopular movement.

REFINED TASTE.—A wealthy Creole lady, of Royal street, New Orleans, who keeps her carriage, and, perhaps, livery servants, but who, notwithstanding these extraneous, must not be overburdened with brains, nor very discriminating, despatched her servant with a note to Jenny Lind, a few days since, requesting Jenny Lind to call and see her—that she desired to look on her—to examine the lady, we presume, as she would an animal she contemplated purchasing—Miss Lind, without appearing to feel annoyed by the uncouth request placed a very diminutive lap dog on a large silver, and told the servant she might take it to her mistress, as it was indescribable that she (Jenny) was, and better worth looking at. The above we have from a reliable source.

BROWN UNIVERSITY.—Professor William Gannell has been transferred from the chair of Rhetoric to that of History and Political Economy.

The Rev. Robinson P. Dunn, of Camden, N. J., has received the appointment of Professor of Natural and Social Literature.

There is a lawyer up at Vermont whose name is Orion. If a jury can listen to him with dry eyes there is surely nothing in a name.

MR. CLAY AT HAVANA.—The New Orleans Picayune publishes an account of the interview between Mr. Clay and a portion of his fellow-passengers by the Georgia, and Captain General Concha, which took place at Havana on the 18th inst. It was furnished by a gentleman who was present:

Good is Everything.—A writer in a London paper of July 1776, quoted in the Tribune, speaking of what he calls "the American standard, having a snake with thirteen rattles and the fourteenth budding," thus expatiates upon the amiable qualities of the rattle snake. Such a benevolent philosopher would find "good in everything."

The rattle snake is properly the representative of America, as this animal is found in no other part of the world.—The eye of this creature excels in brightness most of any animal. She has no eye lids, and is therefore an emblem of vigilance. She never begins an attack, nor ever surrenders; she is therefore an emblem of magnanimity and true courage. When injured, or in danger of being injured, she never wounds till she has given notice to her enemies of their danger. No other of her kind shows such generosity. When untroubled, and in peace she does not appear to be furnished with weapons of any kind. They are latent in the roof of her mouth, and even when extended for her defence, appear to those who are not acquainted with her, to be weak and contemptible; yet her wounds however small are decisive and fatal. She is solitary, and associates with her kind only when it is necessary for their preservation. Her poison is, at once the necessary means of digesting her food, and certain destruction to her enemies.—The power of fascination attributed to her by a generous construction, resembles America. Those who look steadily on her are delighted, and involuntarily advance toward her, and, having once espoused, never leave her. She is frequently found with thirteen rattles, and they increase yearly. She is beautiful in youth, and her beauty increases with her age. Her tongue is blue and forked as the lightning.

THE LATE JOHN S. SKINNER. To the Editors of the Baltimore Patriot.

Will not yourselves and other editors call the attention of the Agriculturalists and Manufacturers of our country to the death of J. S. Skinner.

With a mind of great strength, and with unsurpassed powers of illustration, he devoted his whole life to laborious investigations, and communications of facts and principles relating to the truths and interests of Agriculture and Manufacture, and he may be said to have died with his pen in his hand (for he had just thrown it down) promulgating and vindicating their interests. His remuneration has been small, when compared with his services, and he has died leaving a wife, I fear, almost penniless.

Is there an agriculturist or manufacturer in the country who will not feel a pleasure and pride in contributing towards raising a moderate amount, which with proper investment, will secure to his widow a small income, a bare support—a zone return for the labors of her husband?

The zealous champion of Agriculture and Home Manufacture, his writings gave encouragement, and an impetus to Agriculture it had never before received in this country. This all admit. Let those who have been benefited by his services not prove ungrateful.

I cannot doubt that every Agricultural Society in the country will do honor to his name, and extend the hand of friendship to his widow.

I am ready to practice my precept.

A FARMER.

A FAIR FORTUNE TELLER IN A FIX.—Some ten days ago there was an arrival at the Taunton Hotel, of a personage who announced herself as the celebrated "Madam Gray," wife of Europe, Member of the church, &c. She held her court daily, for a week or more, revealing to lovesick swains visus of future bliss—but on the presentation of her landlord's bill, she entered a demurrer, and was soon non est inventus, leaving as a retainer her Baggage for payment. It was soon ascertained that certain articles of linen were missing from her room. They were subsequently found in her Ban-Box. O'Brien Babbitt arrested her in Bridgewater yesterday. She was then brought to the police station, charged with theft, and held over for trial on Saturday.

If the applicant be a naturalized citizen his certificate of naturalization must be transmitted for inspection. It will be returned with the passport.

The application should be accompanied with a description of the person stating the following particulars, viz:

Age, —; Sex, —; Color, —; Education, —; Profession, —; Family, —; Cish, —; Hair, —; Complexion, —; Face, —.

When the applicant be accompanied by his wife, children, or servants or by females under his protection, it will be sufficient to state the name and ages of such persons, and their relationship to the applicant.

Cost of the ESTABLISHED CHACAU.—A writer in the London Sun, a few days since, did good service by calling attention to the practical injustice of a State Church, whether that Church be Baptist or Protestant. Our danger, just now, is that in attacking the Pope's Aggression, we should forget that of the Church at home. The established Church, in reference to the rest of the State, is situated as follows:

CONFIRMATION NONCONFIRMATION
England contains 8,500,000 8,000,000
Scotland contains 869,900 1,800,000
Ireland contains 1,000,000 1,000,000

16,169,900 17,100,000

In the face of the above, to legislate for the safety of the State Church is a monstrous injustice. The Church has no claim on the people. It is the dearest of all denominations of Christian churches—its practice contradicts its professions; its revenues are misappropriated. In Catholic times some good was done with the Church money.

Of a population of 4,000,000, nearly 50,000 persons were supported by them. Now, three millions of the proceeds of Church lands, appropriated at the Reformation, go to swell the incomes of the richest aristocracy on the face of the earth. Beside, the Lord Chancellor has the patronage of 800 livings; the Duke of Devonshire, of 48; the Earl of Fitzwilliam, of 30; the Duke of Bedford, of 29; the Duke of Rutland, of 28; the Duke of Bedford, of 27; the Duke of Norfolk, of 21; the Marquis of Bristol, of 20; the two Universities have the presentation of 700; the Colleges of Eton and Winchester, of 60; the rest of the aristocracy and country gentlemen, of 6,000.

Then the revenue of this Church in England and Ireland amounts to £12,600,000. Half of this enormous sum is spent as follows:

Archbishop of Canterbury £10,000
Archbishop of York 23,000
Bishopric of Durham 30,000
Bishopric of London 60,000
The other 25 Bishoprics about £8,000 each 150,000
Dignified Clergy, Archdeacons, Deans, &c. in number about 1,000 at an income of £3,000 each 3,000,000
Aristocratic non-residents about 5,000 at an income of £1,000 each 4,000,000

Yet this Church, thus suffering from a plethora of wealth—thus overstocked with the good things of this life—will exact from the Dissenter, who rejects its creed, and who worships not at its altars, the uttermost farthing. The following handbill has just been sent to our office:

GENUINE DUTCH GARDEN SEEDS. From the garden of J. D. Zeeber, Harten, Holland, warranted genuine and of the growth of 1850, consisting of Ageratras, Artichoke, Beet, Peas, Broccoli, Brussels, Cabbage, Cauliflower, Cucumber, Carrot, Celery, Salad, Corn Salad, Endive, Lettuce, Leek, Onion, Parsnip, Peas, Radishes, Spinach and Turnip, of every choice and variety ever had, large, large, and dwarf, at 6 cent a paper, just received of his importation, and warranted to be the best in the New York market. Potatoes already in the cellar, were very fine, without a trace of disease, and corn standing in the field, was not surprised by such that we saw on lands raised at more than one hundred dollars per acre. Indeed the vegetables which we received the premium at the Suffolk County Fair, were raised from a portion of this ground which had not been under cultivation six months. Altogether we were very favorably impressed with our visit to these lands, now so favorably offered to the public at prices which cannot fail to double in a few years, and we would invite the attention of those who desire a cheap and eligible farm at this location.
